PRIORY BAPTIST CHURCH

THE ADVANCE TEAM

A lady recently prepared move to a city more than 1,000 miles from her current hometown. She and her husband divided the labour of moving to accommodate a short timeline. He secured new living arrangements, while she packed their belongings. Her friend was astounded by her ability to move without previewing the area or participating in the house hunt, and asked how she could do this. The lady acknowledged the challenge but said she knew she could trust her husband because of his attention to her preferences and needs over their years together.

Before His arrest Jesus spoke with His disciples of His coming betrayal and death. The darkest hours of Jesus' earthly life, and that of the disciples as well, lay ahead. He comforted them with the assurance that He would prepare a place for them in heaven, just as the lady's husband prepared a new home for their family. When the disciple's questioned Jesus, He pointed them to their mutual history and the miracles they'd witnessed Him perform. Though they would grieve Jesus' death and absence, He reminded them He could be counted on to do as He'd said.

Even in the midst of our own dark hours, we can trust Him to lead us forward to a place of goodness. As we walk with Him, we too will learn to trust increasingly in His faithfulness.

We can trust God to lead us through difficult times.
